
Prayer Of Renunciation Of The Midianite Curse

Almighty God and heavenly Father, you are the God of time. Time is the first thing you created on the first day. Therefore, it is the first fruits of your creation. The first-fruit of everything is dedicated to you, and thereby it is made holy. Since I am a child of God, your intent is that I live in holy time. You do not intend for the seasons of my life to be devoured. I acknowledge that the defilement and the devouring is my fault. Open the books on my family lines and reveal the roots of this curse. I reject and renounce the spirit of control in every branch of my family lines. I repudiate the faithlessness that kept some of my forefathers from possessing their birthright.

I reject the god of comfort and security, and I say that you are able to give tremendous comfort to your people when they possess their birthright. I confess, reject and renounce the deception from the enemy that it is right for me to postpone possessing my birthright until a more convenient time.

I reject and renounce running ahead of your time and behind your time. Cleanse my generational lines of these iniquities. Remove the Midianite curse from my life, my family and my physical and spiritual seed. Nail the curse to the cross of Jesus Christ, and render it null and void.

Father, I proclaim my dependence on you. I want to live by faith, to depend on you, and to possess my birthright. The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak. I have a lifestyle of fear and a history of seeking comfort and security. Just as you did the miracle for Gideon, and as you sustained him when nobody would sustain him, sustain me when I have to pursue my birthright and nobody understands and sustains me. Save me not only from the enemy but also from myself.

At every place where the enemy used to curse and where you desire to release blessings, let your will be done. Release the blessings that you have decreed for me in the seasons that you decree. I pray for Israel, with the giver gift, that you would protect them from the evil one and that you would bring them to true spiritual liberty from all curses. Have mercy on giver cities and nations and release the riches there, so that the people of God in this season can be restored to the fullness of their birthright. Thank you in advance for sanctifying time for me and for my generations. In Jesus' name I pray. Amen.

Blessing Prayer For Giver

Giver, God chose you in Christ before the creation of the world to be who you are and to be gifted just as you are. You are not as out front as some of the other gifts, but they need you. I bless you to be enriched and enlarged in God's design of you and to come into alignment with His plans for you. God loves your gift, and He celebrates the complexity of your life. I bless you for your diversity. You have done many things, and yet you would like to do, know how to do and can do many more things. You are involved in many projects, interests and activities. You are adaptable and flexible. You do not fit easily into stereotypes or molds.

I bless your nurturing, celebrating family and your desire to have family comfortable in relationship. Nurture is a big component of your gift. It is an expression of the nature of God. I bless you as you release into your family line everything that God has in the gold mine of your inheritance. You have the God-given calling to weave people together into a relational culture; into a dynamic that is greater than the sum of its parts. I bless you with representing the heart of the Father who is a God of community. You represent his desire to create, nurture and sustain community because you are made in His image. God delights in your desire to be life-giving to the family, to the community of faith and to the world around you.

I bless your desire, ability and authority to birth, nurture and protect new ideas and new things. The prophet gift needs you for the synergy released when you and the prophet team together in the alignment and timing that God has designed for the two of you. Receive the way that God made you to contribute to His life in the body of Christ. I bless your generational worldview. You are focused on preparing the way for others after you. God designed you to release generational blessings. God calls you to bless and to raise blessing to a high level. You fulfill your birthright when you invoke life-giving generational blessings for your family and community and produce life-giving systems that express God's design.

I bless your alertness and creativity to see options, opportunities and possibilities that others miss. You are opportunistic in seizing the moment. I bless your success in less than ideal circumstances where all the resources are not available. I bless you to maximize imperfect environments or skill sets and create something new and lasting; finding the "win-win" proposition for yourself and others at the same time.

I bless your heart's desire to see people saved and the kingdom of God expanded as an eternal generational inheritance. The synergy of the kingdom is complete as you help other gifts bring unbelievers into the kingdom by providing the resources and identifying fruit that is ripe for picking.

I bless you for your independence and how you stand alone. It is a positive trait when it partners with acknowledging your need for God. Independence can be very powerful when it is totally surrendered to God and in partnership with Him. Pride in personal competence is a challenging occupational hazard of the giver gift. I bless you with the ability to overcome the temptation of considering yourself to be self-contained, having the authority, the money, the influence, the resources and/or the security to do whatever you feel led to do. I bless you to be vigilant and not to let this strength be corrupted into control, which is a perversion of your gift.

I bless your strong desire to maintain your own uniqueness, but I bless you with understanding the interdependence of the gifts personally and in the community of faith. Focus on what you have to add to the other gifts with the cooperation, partnership, alignment and synergy that God intends. Trust God to work in them to accomplish a “win-win” proposition with all the gifts.

I bless you with understanding and an awareness of where your gift gets tripped up. I bless you with healing of the wounds that have caused your basic trust to be fractured, and caused you to respond out of woundedness. I bless you to grow into your greatest potential living in the authority and honor of the giver gift.

I bless you to win the battle of gratitude. God commanded the giver nation of Israel to remember and to celebrate His presence, His works and His wonders. I bless you with the desire to celebrate God’s past intervention. I bless you with the foundation of worship, a lifestyle of looking for and seeing God’s fingerprints on every part of life. I bless your leading others to recognize the work of God, and calling attention to Him as He provides big things and little things.

I bless you as a networker, bringing people together, persuading and inspiring people to do things that they would not normally do. Nobody networks like the giver, and you delight in introducing people and building through relationship. Develop your gift of being intentionally life-giving from your spirit to the spirit of others.

Giver, you are pragmatic and a practical peacemaker. You are not confrontational by nature. You are diplomatic; not wanting to offend. In dealing with people, you get disproportionate return on your effort. You can work with people who have conflicting views and theologies for the sake of a group or a project. You relate to a wide range of very different people. It is as if you are the hub of a wheel, and the spokes radiate out from you. Without the hub, the wheel could not move forward to accomplish a God-given objective. I bless your ability in the community of believers to keep the other gifts related and properly focused.

You are careful of your reputation and that of others. You speak of what is good, righteous and commendable in other people. I bless your caring about the reputation of the kingdom and of the bride of Christ.

You resist manipulation of information. You don't like to have anything withheld from you. You have an intuitive sense for what is false. I bless your gift of discernment in this area.

You usually do the right things, and your acquaintances would say of you that you are a nice person. I bless you to go deeper with God and deepen your spiritual motivation of holiness, which is pleasing to Him.

You find favor in money and resources flowing to you without human explanation or reason. You find bargains, and people give you discounts. At times you may find yourself fighting the temptation to use money as a point of security or as a means of gratification, entitlement, reward or control. I bless your spirit with the ability to overcome these temptations.

I bless you to give well and wisely where there is the greatest potential for eternal return on your investment. When your giving is exercised with God's wisdom, it makes others grateful for God's generosity and He gets the credit and the glory. I bless you with learning how to give in ways that nurture the spirit to form a deeper and richer community.

You tend not to see patterns from the past. You also tend to rationalize and often to blame. You resent it when someone confronts you over issues that are more than a week old. I bless you with the ability to learn from life experiences and see things from God's perspective. I bless you with the ability to react with grace when others point out patterns that you do not see.

I bless you with being secure because of your relationship with God. I bless you with letting God take your faith to new levels. Sometimes faith is hard for you, because you want to avoid risk, and it may lead to fear and control. I bless you with winning the battle against control. It's not God's design for you to play it safe and only do the things that you are sure that you can handle. I bless you with faith that is greater than fear of risk.

Stewardship is the essence of living by faith. You receive resources from God to do what He calls you to do. God's standard for the giver is stewardship of all, because everything belongs to Him. The principle of stewardship relates to life, potential, gifts, resources and relationships. It extends to long-term life-giving generational changes. You are meant to establish relationship and invest in generational blessings that you will pass on. I bless you with being the model of a steward of everything God gives.

I bless you with being settled in who you are in Christ, your identity in Him and your legitimacy as a covenant child of the King of kings, as you partner with Him in intimate relationship.

You are meant to interface powerfully with the other gifts. The community of the gifts needs you to possess your birthright in your unique way. That is the dignity, honor and beauty of the God-seeking giver. You are God's choice for some significant things. I bless you with moving into your full birthright. I bless you in Jesus' name. Amen.
